Communications Law: Liberties, Restraints, And The Modern Media (Wadsworth Series In Mass Communication And Journalism)

Synopsis

The new edition of COMMUNICATIONS LAW: LIBERTIES, RESTRAINTS, AND THE MODERN MEDIA continues with the reviewer-praised readability, coverage of core topics, and currency that have been its consistent strengths. The author's interesting, hypothetical exercises have been a favorite among both professors and students. As in previous editions, the Sixth Edition includes a thorough update of cases and information to keep the text current.

John D. Zelezny, an attorney and senior public relations executive, has extensive experience in both academia and the professional world of communications. His varied career began as a small-town newspaper reporter in the 1970s, later encompassed 15 years as a professor of media law and journalism at three West Coast universities, and eventually led to his employment as a corporate executive and strategic communications adviser to CEOs and boards of directors. He is a member of the State Bar of California, and currently serves as senior vice president and chief communications officer for Community Medical Centers in Fresno, Calif. He is a frequent lecturer on communications law and the author of complex First Amendment problems for law-school advocacy competitions. Mr. Zelezny holds degrees from Humboldt State University and the University of the Pacific's McGeorge School of Law.

Really well written book. I used it during a communications law class for my masters degree, and I really did learn a lot from it. I thought it was going to be a little confusing at first, seeing as though I didn't know much about law, but it was great.

A textbook for class. But good info.

What I needed for school

Book arrived well packaged and as described.

fast service

It was required for class, but I actually enjoyed reading it. It was easily read and I liked the hypotheticals.

It is very boring and at times repetitive. However I did not have a choice because it was required for my class.
